"I think the future of Bold St. looks good."

"Bold Street belongs to all people, past, present and future".

"Bold street is great there's always something happening, it's tradition for me and my girlfriend to come to town every Saturday and go to as many shops on Bold St as we can. Forbidden planet, Home Bargains, Waterstones, HMV, Soul Cafe, etc. We wouldn't know what we'd do with ourselves without it. The busking is great too."

"After moving to Liverpool from the Wirral soon discovered Bold street as the place to meet people. It is much more bohemian than any other part of the city centre and as you walk down the street your would feel cultured by all the unique shops surrounding you. I always seem to bump into somebody I know as I walk down the street and yet that doesn't happen to me anywhere else like it does on BOLD STREET."

"When I was a teenager, I would hang round on a Saturday around Pryre records and the Palace and look at all the cool records and clothes we could'nt afford. When I was older i used to take Mondays off work and while everyone else was working I would buy books from 'News from Nowhere' and read them on St.Lukes steps with a rostie and a cake from Sayers. Now it's been my high street for two years and I walk down it nearly everyday."

"Bold street has never been far away from my life
-Dragged around the shops by my mum when i was a kid.
-In and out of the clubs in my teens and twenties.
-Now working in the new offices behind FACT."
