Al Peterson, protest, art school and coffee!

Published by Laura Yates October 4th, 2007 in History of Bold Street, Community of Bold Street, Radical, Freethinking Bold Street, Cultural History of Bold Street, Your Stories and Famous Faces. 0 Comments

Al Peterson contacted me recently with a great story of radical Bold Street. Protest is in the fabric of Bold Street and so to have a story of one such event really crystalises this, thank you Al!

"Bold Street became my gateway to my involvement with Arts & Music ever since 1955 when I started to attend Liverpool Junior School of Art in Gambia Terrace and Liverpool College of Art Hope Street (1960–1965) as well as visiting my late great frieno Adrian Henri who resided at 21 Mount Street.

After Junior Art School we used to meet up with girls at the El Cabbala in Bold Street ano
